Georg Streck (European Commission)
Georg Streck is employed by the European Commission as a policy officer in the area of chemicals legislation. Assigned to the REACH unit of the Directorate-General for Internal Market, Industry, Entrepreneurship and SMEs (DG GROW), he is working at the interface of risk assessment of chemicals, risk management and policy issues. Before joining the EU Commission, he held positions as a researcher at the Helmholtz Centre for Environmental Research in Leipzig (Germany) and as researcher and lecturer at the University of Bayreuth (Germany). His research focused on fate and transport of chemicals in the environment and on risk assessments in aquatic ecosystems.